

I have lived in eight different houses, but to me 'home' is always in the little village of Yeaveley in Derbyshire where I was born and spent my childhood. I know that everyone is not as fortunate as myself with regard to home, but to me 'home' was the ideal place in which to be. Despite the fact that money was scarce, there was always food on the table, a lovely warm fire and parents who loved us and did their very best to look after us.

The central thing in our kitchen/living room was always the large rug on the hearth in front of the fire. Mam had spent hours making it and it was usually occupied by the youngest members of the family – plus of course, the dog and the cat, who seemed to have the knack of picking the prime spot nearest to the fire. Two empty corn sacks had been split down the sides and sewn together to form a backing onto which was pegged strips of material cut from old worn out clothes. It was always lovely and comfy to sit or lie on. There were bits of Dad's old navy overalls, pieces of one of my dresses, my brother's trousers, strips of socks that were beyond darning and any other material that became available and was either outgrown or outworn.

Home – A place that was safe; a place to which we could always return to be with the roots of our family that had grown and bonded together.

For this last Doodle on 'The Timeline of Jesus', I am thinking about Jesus after His Resurrection. He had been back on earth again for forty days, appearing at various times to His disciples and others, then what happened – He was suddenly taken up in a cloud out of the sight of the disciples. To where did He go????? HE WENT BACK HOME. He ascended to Heaven and went back to be with His Father and the Holy Spirit. He went back to His roots where He had been initially before coming to the earth.

This is 'The Timeline of Jesus' completed up to the present day. His body and His spirit are now in Heaven. The spirits of the believers who have died are with Him in Heaven.

WHAT NEXT? The events written now in this Doodle are future events that have yet to take place. There are different opinions about the order of the End time events, but here are the main things that we are told about in the Scriptures.

One day Jesus will come visibly back to the earth again. Various predictions have been made as to when this will happen but Jesus Himself said that the time for this to happen is unknown to us. He will first take to Heaven the bodies of the believers who have died to re-unite them with their spirits and give them new bodies. The bodies and spirits of the living believers will then be taken to Heaven and given new bodies. There will be no more death, sickness or tears and we will be living with Jesus for eternity. What a thought! ‘Home’ for me will no longer be on the home-made rug in Yeaveley, it will be in the presence of Jesus. I cannot begin to imagine what it will be like – Can you? A place of perfect happiness; a place of absolute harmony and a place where we will again be with family and friends who love Jesus.

Eternity – How long is that? There is not enough room on this page to add all of the zeros to the number!
